whole course of it statements amply supporting the por tion and argument of Mr. Biaine. The therities suffering any real abridgement. We Cable answers in the affirmative, and shows that while the letter of the law recognizes him as entitled to every right of an American cityzen, "there is scarcely one public relation of life in the south where he is not arbitrarily and un-lawfully compelled to hold toward the white man the attitude of an alien, a menal, and a probable reprodute, by reason of his rare and color." The tramping down of his politica rights is shown to be but a single mindeut in the lour course of wrong and outrige. The write points out the enormous disproportion of blacks sent to penal servivinie, in many instances to-offences which in white persons would not even be called misdemeanors the exclusion from public convergnces by brute force of or derly colored people moving on their own ac-count, but then welcome tolerance when serv provileges u the courts, and so on to the en ! of a ong chapter of wrongs. These are the facts, exclaims this ex-confederate officer, this fair-manded southerner, this literary celebrity is acknowledged keen observer, this lecture among his own on many a southern string "They are simply the present avowed and defend edistate of affairs peeded of the exteriors. But, says Mr. (able, with a liberality to which Mr. Wutterson is a stranger, "there is a growing num-ber who see that the one thing we cannot afford to telerate it large is a class of people less than cutzens, and that every interest in the land decands that the freeman be free to become in all things, as far as his own personal gifts will lift and sustain him, the same soft of American citizen he would be 15, with the same intellectual and moral caliber, he were white, This is fixely and generously said. But until such recognition of equality before the law is fully accorded, of which however, there is no present prospect, Mr Biame's words will be true, and because true, will burn. Mr Watter-son need trouble hunself with Mr Blaine no longer. He should turn his pen against Mr.

THE OPTIM OF DET GARASIA

In a title sheet entitle | the "Church Bells tity, we are int rmed that in view of circum stances in the charch and community which open n which of usefulness that women are specially mainful to admissle, the church has feen lel man, mile the mulent order of denotes seem and his appointed use of the nembers to act in that socation for the period of one cear. As this may be taken as one of the signs (the times a few words 1) explanation of the cree; may be of general interest. In the rarhest ages the desconess was as distinctly as the descon an appointed officer of the church, and there is some evidence—though the point is disjuted—that dea oneses were regularly orilained with the imposition of hands. Many of the surjy cand thous of their appointment will seem strange in modern eyes they were not only almost divays widows, but as a rule they must have been valows whether borne children, and a woman who was narried twice was disqualted. They must also have been at least elderly, and down to the fount century maxly was the appoint of age, but this rule was relaxed by the ouncil of Chalcedon, which fixed forty. The intees relegated to these woman were very va-lous. They were to assist the minister at the apptizing of wimen, to not as catechies and nurses to sek women, to minister to martyrs and confessors in prison, and they attended the and to research in prison, and they attended the volume is gathen the charch in the times when, is in some of the ritualistic churches at the prevent day, the excess were separated in divide worship. There is no proof that they ever year or preached in churches, for executed any part of the sacredata office They were simply servents of the church, like Phebe of the church at (enc'rea, placed by their appointment or ords pation under stricter government than would connection with religion has many opportunities and spheres of usefulness, which can be more efficiently discharged by organized and syste ttion of the wicked, devoted women are nation of the wasses, pitten, and luders usually the most successful numerous of the gospel. And there is no doubt that their path vay is smoothed and their efficiency lucreased by the guidance of rules, which it is the part of practical wisdom to adopt. The Presbyteri is charth, while holding its new order of deaconseses under the direction and session, exhorts them "o proceed in the execuse of Christian herty and devotion to employ their gifts, bear ng with them a sense of the responsibility which attaches to this sacree, order." It will which attaches to losely to the idea of St. Paul. that the pastor and the session shall organize, regulate and "control" the work of women.

The Presby erian church has been one of the most conservative of religious! bodies in reference to the inestion of the right of women to choose here on a field of activity and usefulness. While women are exterted o employ their gifts, it e church has been careful to indicate what these gafte are and to define the lim beyond which they shall not be employed. This church intimates that the cir-constances of fontier civilization have caused apid ill venients with noits organization and that the employment of women as proposed is one of the developments of recent tunes. It is nothing ight flust the nubble will regard it, and Will be taken as a corcession to that spirit of nodern progress which is marked by the on-franchisement of women. This may be only he thin end of the wedge, but so far as it goes I is worth, of role. It is the tendency of our avilization to grant enfranchisement to women
